It has come to our knowledge that certain unprincipled dealers have been substituting brands of White Castle Soap of very inferior quality where our trade-mark brand was called for, and thereby making for themselves a few extra cents per pound profit at the expense of the consumer. We call your attention to this cut, which is a fac-simile of our bar of soap, and is a guarantee that the soap is genuine.

BE SURE AND TAKE NO OTHER.

First error the Government had no alternative but to force the bill through, even with the amendments, as its withdrawal after what had taken place would be regarded in the country as a confession of weakness.

SALISBURY'S SPEECH IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The House of Lords abandoned the country and went home last night by getting up a debate on a live topic—the Parnell Commission bill. Lord Salisbury took the opportunity of delivering himself at full length on the disinterestedness of the Government in creating this tribunal to clear up a dangerous and demoralizing scandal, and won by praising its creation and not at the Irish leaders who, he said, had so long seemed to evade or defer a examination. But Lord Salisbury, though speaking in a friendly house, the great majority of which was in accordance with his Tory composition was with him, did not have the controversy all his own way. He was sharply taken to task by Lord Herschell and Lord Kimberley for setting a full precedent in establishing this extra-judicial tribunal, evidently for political and partisan aims, and they were powerfully supported by Earl Granville in announcing the Government's intentions. Lord Derby, who was doing everything in a debate, sound the Liberal lords were getting the best of it and came to the help of the Tories and threw the short sharp sword of his incisive speech into the scales in favor of the bill. The entire debate was unusually spirited and interesting for the august chamber, in which it came off, and although it succeeded in altering somebody's opinion or changing a single vote, it proved that the House still has interests in temporary debate, and could on occasion discuss them with vigor and ability.

MUCH SUSTAINED DISPLAY.

of oratorical powers has been seen in the Upper Chamber this session. The usual method of disposing of bills which come from the Commons is to do as the Government directs without disturbing comment, however distasteful the measure may be. This was the course their lordships took with the local government bill, which was repugnant to the convictions of the great majority.

The House of Commons would have been very dull this week were it not for the hurry to get through with as much legislation as possible before the recess. For this purpose there was a session to-day, an unusual event on Saturday. Many local measures were quickly disposed of and the House is now ready to adjourn.

A FUTILE APPEAL.

The appeal for one of its members, Mr. O'Connor, accomplished nothing except to show the country the injurious character of the persecution directed against him. The fiery protest of Mr. O'Connor, whose voice rang with indignation at the treatment of their colleagues, had no effect on men anxious to pack up and get away into the country.

BISHOP HAMPTON—VERY LOW.

Lying at the Point of Death at Langham's Hotel, London.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, August 11.—Robert Lincoln was here yesterday. He sailed for New York to-day with his daughter on the Australis. "Professional engagements call me home," he said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, "but I expect to be hard at work when I come."

I think you have a winning ticket, though my personal choice was Gresham. I am in favor of the Senate bill to reduce the surplus, but am steadfastly opposed to any move which will weaken or change our system of protective tariff. We should make reductions on the internal revenue and then we will know precisely what we are doing."

Mr. Lincoln met Gen. Gresham in Brussels. On the same steamer, homeward-bound, is Ignacio Donnelly, who has been making Home Education in Ireland.

Among the New Yorkers abroad are Roger Bishop and Bishop Hale, on the City of Berlin; Bishop Potter, Dr. A. L. Ranney and Gen. W. H. Slocum, on the Umbria; Dr. Charles Eaton, Lord Brassey, are also on the Umbria, so is J. B. Haggard of California; Cavendish Bentinck, M. P., and family are on the Adriatic. The Socialist, Edward Aveling, is on the City of Berlin.

XX-SENATOR BALDWIN ILL.

A Michigan gentleman, who arrived in London on the steamship Governor, says ex-United States Senator Baldwin, of Michigan is dangerously ill there with fever. He is traveling with his invalid wife and family.

Clarence Squier will sail for America from Paris August 22.

Mrs. Paran Stevens, New York, and Miss Page are at the Continental Hotel.

CHAMBERLAIN CHOSEN.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain has been chosen Chairman of the Small-holdings Committee.

THE DAILY NEWS' ON BLAINE.

The Daily News published a long report of the arrival of Mr. Blaine in New York, and commented on his remarkable reception. It quotes from Mr. Blaine's speech of yesterday the passage in which he said that the progress of the political campaign was watched with interest as profound in England as in the United States, on which it remarks: There is surely some mistake. England watches it with the greatest concern. The press nearly ignore the contest.

ITALY.

COLD WEATHER IN THE ALPS.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, August 11.—Intense cold weather and heavy snowstorms prevail in the Italian Alps. At Piedmont detached posts of Alpine troops have suffered terribly. Two soldiers died in the hospital at Fenestraro yesterday from exposure and exhaustion, and several others are in a critical condition.

ROOF CROPS.

The grain crops and yield of grapes in Northern Italy are the poorest that have been known for many years, and a great deal of destruction must ensue.

THE MASSOWAH ANNEXATION.

The difficulty which arose between France and Italy over the Massowah annexation is considered settled by the declaration of M. Goblet, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, in his last note to the Powers. France has satisfied her pride by uttering her protest, and will go no further.

South America.

TWO HUNDRED PERSONS DROWNED.

VALPARAISO, August 11, via Gauchan.—The reservoir belonging to the Menas brewery burst at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The principal streets of the city were flooded and traffic was suspended. It is announced that upward of two hundred persons were drowned.

Hayes an Average Crop.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 11.—Reports from New York state show that the barley crop is the best known in years, and letters from barley dealers in the West and Canada say the yield except in the Bay View district is better than ever. The wheat crop is also good, having been harvested for last year and the demand will equal the supply this season, keeping prices up.

Crops in Tennessee.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

JACKSON, Tenn., August 11.—The corn crop in this section, which is now made, is splendid. The outlook for a cotton crop is better than ever. The cotton crop is to be harvested for next year. The yield promises to be equal to that of 1882.

Consented to a Reunion.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, August 11.—The difficulty at the Seine bridge has been removed by the 4,000 employees contributing to a collection of a per cent. They were paid their wages this afternoon upon that basis. The workers will start up in all departments next Monday.

UNDER ARM.

A Serious Problem Presented in Paris by the Great Strike.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, August 11.—Although the strike in Paris over the disturbance of trade.

A COSTLY FIGHT.

THE MONEY SPENT IN ATTEMPTING TO SAVE MAXWELL.

The Aftermath of the Famous Murder Case. John L. Martin admits that the Governor Siegs Through His Eloquence and Bravery Has Saved Louisville—The Chief Deputy Sheriff Joe Harrington, who was on the scaffold, Dr. Steinmetz, who took the condemned man to the gallows, and others hold this theory now.

ANDREW LANDGRAF.

who paid the funeral expenses of Henry Landgraf, the condemned man of the murderer, while the man whose testimony it was convicted of the unfortunate, is a man of great wealth and means. He has two brothers, but one is in the penitentiary and the others did nothing for him. Andrew Landgraf was a man of means, but his money was taken away from him.

It was stated by friends of Mrs. and Miss Fauntleroy, who are staying now at Mr. J. P. McHugh's, that they will leave for the moon on Monday next.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.

The Chattanooga Horror—A Steamboat Burned—Planing Mill Destroyed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 11.—Another body was recovered today from the ruins of the great fire of Thursday night. Only a portion of the heart and a portion of the hips could be found, the balance of the body having been entirely consumed. The work of searching for other bodies is still going on, but it is impossible to make much headway, as the body is so charred that it is difficult to identify it.

It was stated that the body was recovered by a man named Stewart, who was working with them over their failure to save his life. Sympathy and a conscience of duty well performed is about all the attorneys now have. In their efforts to save their clients they spent money right and left without ever reckoning the cost and now they find themselves out of pocket. The few they received was long since swept away and they have been spending their own money. Up at Jefferson City, while endeavoring to secure another respite, Mr. Fauntleroy spent over $100 in programs alone. One large sum was given to the sheriff to prevent his being executed.

It was stated by friends of Mrs. and Miss Fauntleroy that they will leave for the moon on Monday next.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

NEW YORK, August 11.—The steamboat Ridge, an excursion boat running between here, Whitestone and Sands Point, L. I., was burned to the water's edge while lying at her dock at Glenwood early this morning. Frank Daugherty, the captain, was missing, but it was known that there are other bodies buried in the ruins. Another man is reported missing to-day. John Stewart, a resident of this city.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 12, 1888.

The indications for to-day for Missouri are: Light local rains; slightly warmer; variable winds.

This result of the primaries will be found in full in our local columns.

THE Democratic organization, backed by the city office-holders, has held the upper hand in the Democratic primaries.

The railroad companies that have agreed to withdraw their fast passenger trains from Kansas City must expect a vigorous "kick" from that lively city.

CLEVELAND is too busy vetoing fraudulent pension bills to write his letter of acceptance, but there is no reason why Blaine should not write Harrison's letter of acceptance.

SENATOR PALMER of Michigan says there are not more than six Senators whose money put them in the Senate. He seems to have an idea that State legislatures give Senatorships to millionaires just for the fun of the thing.

THE yellow fever has gained a foothold in Jacksonville, but cleanliness, sewerage and the universal application of the teachings of sanitary science have gained a stronger foothold all over the country which no longer dreads epidemics.

HARRISON was dominated to carry Indiana for the ticket, but ex-Gov. PORTER has refused to carry Indiana for HARRISON. HOVEY cannot, because he cannot answer the fervid low-tariff speeches he used to make in his younger and more vigorous days.

THE close connection which has existed for eight years between the Canadian Pacific and Mr. LEVI P. MORTON's London and New York banking houses is not broken by his withdrawal from the Canadian Pacific's Board of Directors. But it will enable him to pose until after the election as an intensely anti-British American, yearning to twist the British lion's tail. In the meantime he leaves a New York partner in the directory, and either of his London partners can succeed him in the position they held for him before he got ready to take it himself in May, 1888.

CONGRESSMAN DINGLEY's paper, the Lewistown (Me.) Journal says: "It is a part of the Republican writ that Mr. BLAINE shall be HARRISON's Secretary of State; and further, that after HARRISON's day will come BLAINE's in the presidential chair." In this enumeration of unhatched chickens the reader will not fail to observe the underlying idea that HARRISON's election is to be supported simply to give us two Blaine administrations. Poor HARRISON! Poor old Republican party! And when the time comes that the chief magistracy of these United States can be seized and held under an alias, we may well exclaim, poor old Republic.

SHERMAN and BUTTERWORTH of Ohio are knocking to pieces all that BLAINE's Paris letter has left of the Chicago platform. They have both declared in favor of absolute free trade between Canada and the United States as "twin sisters." Yet both of these Republicans oppose the 40 per cent tariff of the Mills bill as a free trade measure, and both oppose as "a Siamese twin of the Mills bill" that section of the fisheries treaty which would merely make it optional with our own Congress to establish free trade in fish with Canada, and at the same time confer the freedom of the Canadian fisheries upon our fishermen. The inconsistencies of Republican protection theories are fearful to contemplate.

WHEN the Hon. ALBERT G. PORTER placed HARRISON in nomination at Chicago he said: "Give BENJAMIN HARRISON your nomination to lead the State and Indians will immediately fall into line and express forward with enthusiastic confidence of "victory." But something has happened since that promise was given. In the Indiana Republican convention the other day it was declared that "with BENJAMIN HARRISON and the Republican party at stake, they have a right to demand the nomination for Governor." But the Hon. ALBERT G. positively, persistently and peremptorily refused to "fall into line and press forward." The enthusiastic confidence of victory had faded out.

BLAINE'S OPENING.

Replying to the reception speech at New York, Mr. BLAINE stood in foreign-made garments, that had paid no tribute to American labor or to the American exchequer, and began immediately to parrot the old cry that a tariff reduction is an attack upon the wages of American workers, an attempt to reduce our wages to the European standard and to promote English interests at the expense of our own. He then went on to talk about European interest in this campaign because it was "England's opportunity, the long-looked-for occasion upon which the cheaper labor and the cheaper fabrics of the Old World expect to invade the New, and lower the wages of American workmen to the European standard."

It is this utter recklessness of assumption and statement that have destroyed confidence in Mr. BLAINE's sincerity as a teacher, and put the great majority of his countrymen on their guard against him as a sound statesman or safe leader.

In his book, where Mr. BLAINE felt constrained to be more accurate than in a campaign hush, he has recorded and admitted the fact that American industries of all kinds, including manufactures, attained their greatest relative expansion and prosperity under the so-called free-trade tariff of 1846. Yet he pretends to believe that the enormously high protective tariff guaranteed by the Mills bill is a fatal blow to American wages and industries.

He has seen abroad how free trade

Mr. Blaine said that he deprecated the fact that this country had followed the policy of protection to encourage ship building by subsidy. When he was in Congress, he told me, he endeavored to build up a trade with South American countries and especially Brazil by introducing a bill to award subsidies to ship builders. Brazil also expected to have a market for its products to cooperate with this country. Congress, however, failed to concur.

Mr. Blaine then introduced the sub-subsidy policy, "that this English regulation of emigration on the seas

At that time Capt. Marion, United States Revenue Cutter, who was appointed by President Grant and has not been disturbed by the Democratic Administration, joined the navy. He was a man who had been in the service, and had been less in Uruguay's ports than ever that of Turkey. And, what was more important, he came from the port of the $200,000,000 of the commerce from that country's ports every year. England carries the greater part. On learning this, Mr. Blaine said, "I thought that what I had done was to make things worse."

It looks as if Gen. Harrison had been much more than a mere talker. He is not doing much talking now-a-days, but he is doing a great deal of writing. The National Republican Committee that Mr. Harrison must quit taking so much that he was doing, his cause harm. No Harrison recompense for his services.

A GREAT TIE GAME.

THE BROWNS AND ATHLETICS PLAYED ELEVEN INNINGS YESTERDAY,

But After Two Hours and a Half of Kicking "Games" Was Called Because of Darkness—Mr. Gunning's Work as Umpire—Brooklyn Beats Cincinnati and New York Gives Up to Pittsburgh—One Ball as Many Fields—News of the Diamond.

The game at Sportsman's Park yesterday between the Browns and Athletics was a very exciting affair all around. There were eleven innings played and neither side could win. There was much fun for the audience, for the double system was used. Gunning acted for the Athletics and Dickey for the Browns, and both of them were applauded and hissed both as the humor would strike the audience. The Browns were the first to score, by far, however, was the round of applause which the audience gave Gunning for calling Latham out at first in a critical stage of the contest. Gunning walked in from the field with a dignified stride and very fully lifted his cap to his admirers. Several times during the game he admonished the Athletic players, particularly Gleason, who were making frequent objections on strikes and balls. In the last inning he fined Latham $5 for calling Harry Lyons to look out at first base "Tom" would call him out. The best that can be said of the umpiring is that both men of course slightly favored their sides, but this was to be expected.

There were some good features in the game. Among them were Coniskey's long single in the first, Welch's hit of two runs, and the great work of the ninth. White's game at short and a marvelous shot of the ninth by Welch in the ninth. The pitchers did the work both. The game was enjoyed by about five thousand people. This splendid crowd was due mainly to the reduction in the price of admission to $3 and 50 cents, which went into effect yesterday.

As in all games in which the double umpire system has been used, there was kicking and nausea. The Athlete's runs were made in this way, while the Welch and Dickey system was the same. Storey made a smash hit to center and was advanced to second on Lyons' base on balls. Larkin came next and hit to Hudson, who let it go by, advancing all the runners. Storey now scored on Bauer's sacrifice fly to center. A hit by Gleason brought Lyons home and Gleason and Larkin each got a base on the run. Robinson was closed the handing by being assisted out by the pitcher. Time, 12:26. Umpire, Kelley.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 1. By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., August 11.—The Washingtons hit the ball twice as hard, but the visitors won a compensation game because of the bad running of the home team. The Indians could do little against Widner. The game abounded in brilliant fielding, almost every man doing something to help his side. The Indians were two runs ahead by Hoyt and Van Rensselaer, but a difficult stop by O'Brien, who assisted in making a double play and several stops by Williams, who fairly outdistanced the Indians.

Washington, 2; Chicago, 1. By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, ILL., August 11.—The Indians scored one run in the third, third on the same, and scored on Williams' sacrifice hit to the field.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

After Fifty Years a Stolen Yester Is Paid For.

To Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.
ASHLAND, Ky., August 11.—The very oddest kind of a little story has transpired. One day last week Mrs. John Parks, a well and popularly-known lady residing here, received notice from Postmaster Weiss that a registered letter awaited her in the Post-office. She proceeded to open the letter and was struck by its contents, which were as follows and the following note.

Mr. John Parks,
I am sure you will be surprised in reading the contents of this letter. When your father died in Clarksville, Tenn., and sold your home there, he left me $250 cash in his store and never paid it for. I feel it my duty to compensate some one of the family for this sum. I have no money to give you, so call on me here I send you $25. Your friend,

Mrs. Parks' father was named Miller, and left Clarksville before she was born, hence the sum he had was omitted.

FILK umbrella at $2.50 each. Come and see how wonderfully cheap you can buy at our great cash removal sale now going on.

BUFFALO BILL LEAVES GOTHAM.

He Has Away to Philadelphia—The Wild West to Disband.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, August 11.—When handsome Buffalo Bill rode gracefully around the ring, down on Staten Island this afternoon, with his wide sombrero in his hand, and bowed right and left to the admiring throng, the man who created the notorious handkerchiefs which greeted him, was bidding farewell to New York audiences for many a day to come. The entire company left this evening for Boston, where they will remain for two weeks in the Gentlemen's Driving Park for the next three or four weeks. From Philadelphia, the Wild West will travel to the cities of the South, and from there to the cities of the Southeast.

It just when he will disband and go to winter quarters has not yet been decided further than that the show will disband. Buffalo Bill has a mind and a plan to look after his friends in the West. The Indians have enough of the task; the bucking horses want a chance to try up some new forms of devilry, and there is a general need of a chance to get franchises up.

Trunks, Trunks, Trunks.

The entire stock of trunks, bags, saddlebags, pocketbooks, dog bags, and packing goods of every description which were in the retail store of W. C. Murphy are now at his trunk Emporium, Third and St. Charles streets, and will be sold out at much less than cost for the next thirty days.

NATURAL GAS PLAYING OUT.

Mills in Ohio Shutting Down for Lack of Gas—Fuel.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

WELLSVILLE, O., August 11.—The question of the permanency or otherwise of the natural gas supply seems in a fair way to be settled so far as this part of the country is concerned.

For a week or two the pressure has rapidly decreased, and to-day the gas is being shut down in all departments, not having sufficient gas even to raise steam. The supply for the sewer pipe firms has also been cut off. This situation naturally causes the gravest concern.

The many claims that the gas is cut off to save the wells, but the explanation fails to satisfy those most interested.

HARDT'S ADORERS.

AT HER HOUSE ARE OBLIGED TO PUT UP WITH THEM.

In His Shirt sleeves at the Place Entertained Visitors—The Princess Lucia Bonaparte—Abuses Her—The Dickens—Her Friendship for us—A Good Story.

Exponent of the Poor—Duran—Aug. 11.—There has been a good deal of talk created in the American colony and actress is about to become the guest of Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt—to go and stay hereafter under the hospitable roof of the great actress, and that she has already called upon her and accepted invitations to entertain her. Now, no admires of the gifted tragedienne more than those who are a lady born to say nothing of dead or possessed, is beyond my comprehension, unlike many of her colleagues, are lend to her proclivities the depth of hypocrisy. There are numbers whose lives are not irreproachable than that of Bernhardt, but whose manner, and whose style before the world gives no scandal. But Sarah has always gone well rejoicing without caring one whit for the world. The guest who with her host must perform purupishment of art.

HER LATEST ADORER.—After once hearing of the adventure of the American lady, who made known that she would go to call on the to deposit in person her homage. She wrote, therefore, to the s, requesting permission to pay and received a pleasant response, day and hour at which she might the lady arrived and Sarah responded cordially. But all through the long bullet-headed man with black hair and pouting mouth who is seen with a cigar between his teeth no notice whatever of the arrival of the American lady, but the decided scandalized by his countenance, she might have been. Mr. Eichstein, acknowledged ruler over art and household. The visitor to complain; she knew perfectly well that it is to such an establishment an American lady has announced herself. The two are alone, we are coming to our American fame for the perfect production in all its forms, as well as for the unadorned PRINCESS' TROUSSEAU.—The hand of the Princess Lucia Bonaparte, despite the fact to the Duke of Asturias will not be September. The Princess Mariano, however, was presenting to the bride six of the toilettes that are to be gotten up for the Worth from his usual visit to the Meantime and right embroidered, he had put in hand. The a court dress of valentines shade of green that was the Duke's favorite, and embroidered with a border in massed daisies, colored in silver and the hearts of gold. and corsage in the palest possible of lace, embroidered with fine satin, embroidered with gold, and the Nappy in shaded daisies. These bouquets either by loops and ends of a flower to be ornamented with clusters of each cluster will hover a bee over the American Colony in that one of its most charming members—accompanied by the Duke, J. M. Mariano, brilliant elegant home on the Rue de Taxis' CONICAL INCIDENT.—The Princess Louise, was re- a rather comical incident which had occurred to her. She was staying with the Queen Palace, and took it into her head to go to the Louvre, and unattended to visit the home band to see her sisters-in-law at the Louvre. She was accompanied by the numerous cardinals and cardinals, so plainly dressed and with a look of her face, all crossed the Louvre, and came out without any adventure at all. The porter, a newly-engaged man, who had been the companion of a Duke, looked the quietly all over, and without even asking, "What is the matter?" "Ah," said the Princess, "I am told that there is a person walking from the Louvre." "Louise," said the Princess, "tell me, is the master here?" And the master quickly expired with a fit of alarm.

DUCHESS OF EDINBURGH.—The Queen of England, the greatest for American Duchess of Edinburgh, probably the English. She used to drive waiting quite wild immediately after her arrival, and was educated abroad and French fluently and talking to continuously, and cordially. Not that she speak English, for like all people she is an accomplished speaker of English, but also Italian, the one like a native of Prussia and friends for Lucy Randolph Merriam Jones of New York, married an account of the two ladies to study their practice together, and pursue studies in general. And the Queen of England, who had st. She had written beforehand to friends, and their friend's husband good off to the Queen, and what effect the brilliant and Lady Churchill's visit can this rather desultory letter, which has the merit of being written in English. At least, the Queen of England, who was asked by a friend of the Cardinals during his answer: "I am away from town, and the weather is worse than that made by the English Commodore, on being asked if he had just started on his way to New York, he made answer with dignity, "No, I do not approve of calling upon the Queen of England."

"said Miss Sparassotri, "do you know I think he has got a good idea, really out of town after our young countrymen's worse than that made by the English Commodore, on being asked if he had just started on his way to New York, he made answer with dignity,

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.

The wheat market closes about where it did two weeks ago. In that time it has had several violent ups and downs and in the same time the foreigners have bought more wheat than they have taken on in say two weeks since last August, when $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 of bank-note staff was crammed down their throats willy-nilly. The market closes weak on the surface and strong underneath. That is to say, it is resting on a slipping basis, and the daily record of movement must as heretofore have an important influence in the regulations of values. To be sure the foreigners, having been such heavy buyers of late, might be expected to do so. Cables reported a gain of 50% to 55% for new. Those in sympathy with the operators working for lower prices once declared that Rading was put up for the market right along. Cleary & Co., and others, however, higher in order to draw in supplies. ## THE POST-DISPATCH-PAGES 17 TO 20.

ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1888.

THE ROPE'S RECORD.

History of the Gallows and Noose in St. Louis.

Thirty-Seven Men Executed for the Crime of Murder.

The First Hanging in This City—Four Negroes Who Died Together—The Famous Charles Murder—An Italian Vendetta and Its Consequence—A Horrible Scene at the Old Jail—Double, Triple and Quadruple Hangings—Capital Crimes of Old and New St. Louis—Some Sensational Cases.

SINCE the double execution of Friday last, the curiosity of many has been aroused by the history of former hangings, and the officers of the law have been besieged with inquiries concerning the number of those who have executed their crimes on the scaffold, and the offenses for which they suffered the death penalty. An investigation of the records developed the fact that during the year 1859, when the first sentence was carried into effect, thirty-five men had died by the hands of the Sheriff before the execution of Maxwell and Landgraf. This list includes the perpetrators of many murders famous in their day, and proves that the law, as administered in St. Louis, has both a long arm and a long memory. The history is full of interest from a criminal standpoint.

THE LAW'S FIRST VICTIM.

St. Louis had been in existence forty-five years before finding it necessary to impose the death penalty. On September 16, 1816, John Long, a slave, was hanged for the murder of his step-father, George Gordon. The killing occurred in Bonhomme township. Hiding in ambush, Long awaited the approach of Gordon, and when the favorable opportunity arrived, rose from his place of concealment and sent a rifle bullet through the heart of his victim. The murderer was convicted before the Court of Oyer and Terminer, composed of J. B. C. Lucas presiding, and Silas Bent and Auguste Chouteau, associate judges. In view of the trial, Long's attorneys proved that one of the jurors could neither speak nor understand the English language, but this did not avail their client, for he mounted the scaffold just one month after the commission of his crime, and thus secured the doubtful honor of being the first man ever hanged in this city.

On May 27, 1827, King Hugh was executed for the murder of Martin Green. The particulars both of the crime and its expiation are involved in an obscurity which a diligent search failed to reveal.

A HEADLINES EXECUTION.

Four negroes named respectively Madison alias Blanchard, Chas. Brown, James Seward and Alfred Warlock were hanged on July 9, 1841, for the double murder of Jesse Baker and Jacob Weaver. Baker slept in a store on the corner of Pine and Commercial streets, and on the fatal night was murdered in his bed while his assassins were engaged in burglarizing the premises. Just as they were preparing to make their exit with the plunder, Weaver suddenly stepped into the store only to find his master and his two accomplices subversive to her will and the approaching death of his master. In a fit of rage he obtained a knife from his husband, eight or nine inches long, and his wife's death, which occurred in a brown stone mansion, furnished with wealth could buy or sell. He then fled from her, and remained away from home at a time to be in her vicinity in this season of care and anxiety. His master, a woman of Charles L. Clark, the son of George Carey, wife of Charles of the St. Louis hotel, of whom the St. Louis publican was dashing dementor. He became with her and her husband as his carriage as boldly as had a right place beside him. He was a man of a very superstitious mind, by playing upon his fears soon complete control over him. In

KING HUGH'S MILITARY COURT.

King Hugh returned to Clark, or said that a civic ceremony had been in New York City, a statement which took up his time. Immediately taking up his residence in a mansion which was regarded as the most eligible in the city, with a capital stock of $100,000, he was present to witness the trial of his mother and descendants to her father, whom she alleged minister of the gospel, then deceased, in the court of justice, and died upon the death of Mrs. Clark, trick or legendarian, induced to do so by the fact that she would be present on the following day when the court went up to Chicago and just across the border, where Clark always was present, pretended to be a spiritualist, and they made him an office in connection with his business, and he obtained from his wife, eight or nine months after her death, which occurred in a brown stone mansion, furnished with wealth could buy or sell. He then fled from her, and remained away from home at a time to be in her vicinity in this season of care and anxiety. His master, a woman of Charles L. Clark, the son of George Carey, wife of Charles of the St. Louis hotel, of whom the St. Louis publican was dashing dementor. He became with her and her husband as his carriage as boldly as had a right place beside him. He was a man of a very superstitious mind, by playing upon his fears soon complete control over him. In

IN HIS WILL.

$1,000 to his only son, John L. Clark, to be his sole heir, and that he should be the sole possessor, nominally whatever price it would agree to him. The evidence showed that he had been hanged on the 29th of June, 1841, to Charlotte Packham (now Mrs. John) in the old Pacific Hotel, nearly, demanding that each and every conveyance set aside, as well as the remainder of the real estate and without any consideration whatsoever, holding money in trust for his wife, his mother and descendants to her

WHERE STARS SHINE.

ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED BY THE SUMMER AMUSEMENT MANAGERS.

"Last Days of Pompeii" at the Kensington Millicker's "Black Hussar" at Upton's Cave—Gossip About Singers and Players—

THE Last Days of Pompeii will be given at Kensington Gardens this week, as usual, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. The entertainment is growing more elaborate with almost every performance and each time there is something new to attract and interest. Changes and improvements in the first part are constant, though the best acts are still retained. The Gillette brothers still do the comedy piece, and the head balance and walk up and down the long stairway head to head. Pompeii still walks the three wires in a very good exhibition of Turkish balancing and leaping. The Albion troupe give their entertaining acts regularly and besides these there are a number of others who are excellent. The pyrotechnic display is more magnificent than ever before. The managers introduce new sets pieces every evening and there is scarcely a performance without the exhibition of some piece never before seen in this city. The whole affair is gorgeous and the audiences are made up of thousands of people.

The Conried Co. will sing the "Black Hussar" at the Cave this week. The company has been rehearsing it faithfully and now have it in excellent shape for the production. The "Black Hussar" is the greatest of Millicker's successes. It is a bright, racy work, full of charming music of rather unusual order, which enables it to remain fresh. It has not been sung here for a long time, and the advance sale indicates that the memory of it is a strong incentive to go again. The libretto of the work is ingenious in its construction and full of good dialogue and excellent wit. The cast is good and fully equal to the task of giving the opera at best. It will be as follows:

Fredrick Von Heber, E. W. Hof; Hans Waldeman, Joe Grindfelder, Chas. W. Huddie, Harold Leslie; Hackenback, J. W. Herbert; Piffick, W. H. Fitzgerald; Anna Blanche, Anna Cuthbertson; Barbara, Jessie Reutter; Ricki, Marion Langdon.

Opera's Theater will open its regular season August 26, with the popular German comedian Gus Wissner, in his repertoire.

Messrs. Havlin & Robb have quite a lot of strong attractions booked for the coming season, and among them are the famous "Puffins." "The White Slave" of the Troubadours, "Sister," Thatcher, Primo & West's "Mandrake," E. S. Sims' "Sister," "The Queen of Hearts," "Honesty," success "Drifting Apart," "The Bubble of Keys," Milton's "Aladdin," the famous comedy "His Royal Highness," "Lost in New York," "Mayester's" "Twenty Maidens to York," "Duke of Burgundy," "The Postmaster," "Barry & Fay in "McKenna's" Flirtation," "Frederic Britton in "McKenna's" Flirtation," "We, Us & Co.," and the new comedy drama "My Sister, Beulah." The popular prices will remain as last season.

An Actor Broken Up.

From the New York Evening World.
An amusing story is told of Miss Ada Rehan's first appearance upon the stage in tights, which took place in Albany, not so many years ago. Miss Rehan, her sister, Mrs. Hattie O'Neill, and two men had to make their entrance through a hole in the curtain. They staggered Hardly had they started on this walk when Miss Rehan remarked to her neighbor: "Frank, you don't think we did well in playing at my game?" This brought the other three completely up. They were unable to proceed without laughing. The curtain was lowered and it was some time before the play could proceed. The unfortunate quartette was raked over the coals pretty severely.

Mrs. Langtry's Sign.

From the New York Graphic.
Mrs. Langtry has done some things in America that tend to establish her as a popular sort of character. She has done others that are not calculated to make her beloved among the more refined people. The theater doors have always been open to her, and she has been received with open arms by the public.

A SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF THE ORDER OF MUTUAL PROTECTION.

The Origin and Growth and Some of its Privileges—The New United Order of Hope—It Already Has a Membership of 600—Personal Gossip About Members of the Mystic Orders.

THREE TEARS ago a number of men in this city became interested in looking after the welfare of those who could not unassisted make provisions for themselves. Their object was to found an organization which would after a manner put aside a penny for a rainy day, and place members who had become too old to work in some manner from their contributions for themselves. The main object was to found an insurance and benevolent organization which would, by the assessment of a moderate sum upon the members, be placed in a position to pay considerable benefits to assist the sick members of the order and help the families of those who died. After hard and earnest work, the few organizers formed what is known as the Order of Mutual Protection. For a number of years the order prospered, making new additions being made to the lists every day. In 1880 the order was reorganized in St. Louis and grew and prospered as its predecessor had done. For six years the Order of Mutual Protection spread among the people of St. Louis. In 1886 the Dr. Henry Schwartz, Supreme Lodge, which was made up of some of the best men in the city, decided that it was about time to spread the organization to other cities and make the order a national instead of a local organization. In accordance with the decision of the Local Supreme Lodge, another branch was opened in Chicago, to which place the Supreme Lodge moved. Work was then begun to penetrate into the principal cities of the Union, and in short order lodges were flourishing in New York, Brooklyn, Detroit, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, and other principal cities. The order was then fully established in all points and the final changes and improvements made.

The charter provides for the payment of $2,000 to the relatives of a deceased member, and the sum amount to any member in good standing who shall have reached the age of 70 years. If for any reason a member becomes totally disabled from service for himself a benefit of $1,000 is advanced and $600 is advanced after ten years of membership, which is deducted from the benefit paid to the family of the member after his death. During the illness of a member sick benefits in amounts to suit the contingencies of the case are paid by the society.

To provide the money for the payment of all of these benefits the members pay a small annual fee, a monthly premium, and a light assessment. The members who are in the order are quite active and enterprising, and it is probable that the past twenty-five years the order has done more for the public than any other organization in the country. It stands very high in the profession, and has occupied the chair of honor in the parades for the past twenty-five years.

Dr. E. Yonkman is one of the old charter members of Prides of St. Louis Lodge, No. 12, and was among its early and active leaders, and is at present a Past Protector of the order. Dr. H. W. Yonkman is about 50 years of age, and has given much time to medicine and surgery for the past twenty-five years. He is a man of great ability, and stands very high in the profession, and has occupied the chair of honor in the parades for the past twenty-five years.
